Research Description (maximum 2 pages)

- * Purpose (challenges/issues to be addressed)
- * Objectives
- * Context (including literature review and theoretical approach)
- * Methodology

Research Description (continued)

Knowledge Mobilization Plan (maximum 0.5 page)

* Methodologies and approaches to engage appropriate audiences or participants, including, as applicable, diverse groups of peoples, researchers, policy-makers, business leaders, community groups, educators, media, international audiences, practitioners, decision-makers, and the general public.

* Time-frames or a schedule for the intended activities.

Expected Outcomes (maximum 0.5 page)

* Describe the potential benefits/outcomes (e.g., evolution, effects, potential learning, implications, advancement of knowledge) that could emerge from the proposed research and/or related activities to other areas of research/disciplines, outside of the academic community, how it will be used, and by whom.

Student Training (maximum 0.5 page)

* Describe the role and specific responsibilities of students and research assistants, and indicate the duties, especially with respect to research, that they will be undertaking, as well as how these will complement their training.

Budget and Justification (maximum 1.5 pages)

* Summarize your budget in terms of the following:

1. Personnel (Student, Technical and/or Administrative Assistance)
2. Materials and Supplies
3. Equipment
4. Travel (Designated by applicant/team members and students, and whether travel is for direct research costs or for other purposes)
5. Funds from Other Sources (including in-kind or other available funds)
6. Other (please specify)

* Justify all costs in terms of the needs of the research. The adjudication committee will use the principle of minimum essential funding to guide its discussions of project budgets.

Budget (continued)

For what major external research grant(s) would you be applying during the next submission deadline if this research proposal were to be funded?

Explain how the current proposal aligns with the purposes and objectives of the major external research grant(s) noted above.

Curriculum Vitae

* Attach an updated Curriculum Vitae for each member of the research team with the application of no more than 3 pages. The adjudication committee will focus most closely on the last three years of research contributions, the collaborative capacity of the research backgrounds and expertise of all collaborators, and their alignment to the proposed research.
